

This is a preview of your doc in Truth, Honor & Integrity ~ home of Thomas Williams.

Edit

Truth, Honor & Integrity special show with Shane, July 11.2016 ~ Transcript

 CHLOE ERIKA KIRKER · SUNDAY, JULY 31, 2016

Truth Honor & Integrity show 07/11/2016

Thomas Williams with Shane 'The Ruiner'.

Thomas: Hi all and welcome to Truth Honor and Integrity. Right!, we have a special show with Shane this evening. So, we've had Shane on before and it was they were some of our most popular shows. As many of you will know he is 'The Ruiner', and he has gone about ruining the Cabal for our benefit and some of the popular people in the alternative media who like to play fun and games as well, so. Shane's a very busy man and we've been trying to get him on for a while, in fact we're both busy but tonight he's on. Hi Shane!

Shane: Hello.

Thomas: Right! So you've been rather busy since the last show we had and of course the last one was with Drake and it was a good show. How are things with you since the last show?

Shane: You've been rather busy since the last show? (laughs). Things are well, everything has been going well. You know, just doing the podcast when I have time and trying to speak to as many people as possible when they're looking to speak with me and see what we can come together on and, it's a pretty interesting time.

Everything that I said last time has been rolling out and we've been discovering new things every day and that process of everything being unveiled to us is becoming quite clear and we just have to start trying to make some sense of it, I guess that's been part of my busyness trying to clear out some of the things that aren't helping us make sense of it all, that's all, and that's about that.

Thomas: So the podcasts, what was the intention behind them and how've they gone to date?

Shane: Well the intention was always to just get everyone telling their story. I've always been of the opinion that this whole whistle blower circus and whatnot, unless it's just unnecessary because there's so many people out there with information and we all need to start bringing that information to the table no matter if it's a person who's usually on a speaking platform or not.

Everyone's got a story and it's about time we started sharing those stories 'coz it's missing pieces of this bigger puzzle and we're never going to put the whole puzzle together unless we all bring our stories together and talk amongst ourselves and learn to communicate with each other even when we disagree and so that's been about that and so far it's been great. Met some people on air and worked some things out with some people on air, worked some things out within myself on air and it's been serving its purpose in that way so I've been happy.

Thomas: That's good. The podcasts: some of them are really interesting. And it is about all of us having an input because too many are waiting for the saviour whether that be some of the people that are familiar on the internet or ET's coming down or the government, the reality is it's a book about all us isn't it?

Shane: Exactly, we are all of that, we don't need that from someone else and the quicker we realize that the quicker we can actually get to everything that we want. It's all right there it's not that I'd ever meant to say that we can't have all of the things that we want within this reality, we can it's just that we can't keep looking for it from other places. Once we realize that we are all capable of all these things and have all of this within ourselves, that's when everything will start to unravel.

Kind of like Neo in The Matrix, he's starting to believe. For each of us as individuals it's about believing in ourselves and trusting ourselves and learning to develop whatever that concept may mean, faith in ourselves, that not only can we handle ourselves within this matrix or within this three dimensional reality but we're handling our business in all the other ones too and there's a purpose for these ones and we exist within these ones for a reason and for a purpose and a purpose we're capable of.

It doesn't matter how much the deck seems to be stacked against us we're perfectly capable of getting out from behind it, we just have to convince ourselves of that and remember that and, see it for ourselves.

Thomas: Yes. One of the questions that have been put forward to us both is how we met. Do you remember? (laughs).

Shane: It was definitely through Chloe.

Thomas: Yes

Shane: We talked about it on our podcast with Chloe when she came on my podcast. She had sent an email originally and then we ended up talking. It's something I always prefer to do, it's just easier than trying to type messages back and forth when the subject gets too big so we started talking that way and I guess we've been talking ever since.

Thomas: Yes, it's just over twelve months now isn't it, well, fourteen months, something like that. And eh, we've banged heads quite a bit and come up with a lot of ideas and solutions and a whole heap of different things so, yes I've enjoyed my time with you, and it's been good to interact.

Shane: Likewise and it's also introduced me to a lot of good people through you like people who were following Cosmic Voice while you were there and now follow this show, and seen some beautiful people doing some beautiful things on-line and trying to do what I hope everyone will do which is step up and own their own beauty and be that for the world to see and not be afraid of any kind of ridicule or anyone thinking maybe that they're weird or quirky or whatever word you want to put on that and just be yourself and show everyone why you're beautiful.

Thomas: Yes. The quirky ones are the ones that people can't see or won't hear, I'm going to get into that because the psychological side of being in this community is a big problem to many. It takes quite a lot to walk down a lonely path as such, people have lost family members and friends and loved ones and it's not easy. What would your message be to those people?

Shane: I know it's not easy, I've been, I've witnessed it so many times now it's very much like a grieving process, it seems to have all the same symptoms and cause and effect of someone very close to you dying, or a piece of you dying and so you can treat it like that and kind of go through steps with it where you allow yourself to feel out the different emotions that come with that.

You know, get to the point of acceptance with it all and process it all in a healthy way instead of just allowing the defeat to happen. Understand that you woke up to it for a reason, you brought that into your existence for a reason, you wouldn't have done that if you didn't know that you could handle it and have that belief in yourself will carry you through it.

A lot of people do that even when they're religious or spiritual and identify with a god, Right. They'll put themselves in the hands of god, well don't hesitate to put yourself in the hands of yourself and realize that you have all that inner knowing and guidance in there and if you kind of, instead of allowing the pain to take over just try to focus on what you know is coming at the other side which is an awakening and ownership of your own light and try and focus on the endgame instead of the pain that you're feeling.

It's like the swamp of sadness in The Never Ending Story , just keep walking and once you get to the other end of that swamp you'll be ok but if you allow the sadness to overtake you, you might sink into that swamp and we don't need to lose anyone so please don't do that just realize that there's a big bright light on the end of that swamp which is you and it's worth the process.

Thomas: Yes. I have always used the words Tanaath said where she said 'never put anyone above your own heart'. Obviously some people who follow religion will find that rather difficult but it is what it is. This is why humanity has been downtrodden in my opinion because they've made us feel very small and incapable of many things. Low-self esteem, must fit in with the pack and a whole heap of other problems that we've had to endure; the mind control, it's a very difficult and lonely path and I think it's important that people understand that.

Shane has been prevalent in addressing that, and obviously people know that we've done that both on the page and in private and it's important people stay strong and calm particularly with times that are coming up.

Shane: It's all about trying to empower ourselves right now because that's exactly what we need to do, we need to remember that that's what they've been beating the shit out of us for... is to keep us disempowered and if that was all that they really wanted there's a reason for that and therefore the first step should be taking that (our own) power back and giving them the proverbial finger and walking our own path with it and stop letting what they're doing cause us to feel that way because we can do it, we just have to remember that we can, we are very close.

Thomas: Yes, absolutely. So, on the first show we covered a range of topics and I'd like some updates if you would. Where are we with 'the parents' as it stands?

Shane: Nothing's really changed, it's on auto pilot for them almost now because what's about to happen is going to happen, all they're really here for is to take the next steps once it's over. So they're kind of just riding the wave like we are in their own different way.

There is still the same number of them, still the same general behaviour where the two are involved, the other one is not. All they're really doing is making sure that everything goes according to plan which is merely a matter of hitting certain milestones, it's not like a, controlling every small aspect of things and as long as that happens they don't really have to do much so, not really a lot to report there.

I don't know that there will be until a point in time where we may not even be able to communicate like this, so let's hope that it stays that way in a way. Just because I mean, I think if they did start throwing any curve-balls that would mean bad things and I think that the way that things are set right now it doesn't necessarily mean bad things, it just is what it is.

Thomas: So, they're not interfering as much as they used to, is that correct?

Shane: That's right. Like I said before I guess they're just letting the human components do what they do and the end result of that however it turns out or however it plays out is what they want and as long as it plays out in whatever nature it plays out.

Then they have what they want so they don't really have much to do in this point. That's why the focus is more on all of the misguided people that have been in control of the secret projects and bases and various technologies that need the focus or that can get the focus because they're the ones who're kind of the children playing with toys that they understand but they don't have the proper amount of responsibility to be using.

And we'll continue along the path of discoveries, whatever you want to call that, the unveiling, the unravelling, the quickening; there's so many words for it, but it all means the same thing, it's just this period we're going through where what disclosure, I guess, we're going to get is rolling out.

Thomas: So the path of discoveries as I understand it is going to escalate?

Shane: It definitely is. I mean, like I said, it's everyday now. Sometimes three or four times a day you'll see different things where it's just like "wait a minute, where the fuck did that come from", (excuse my language), why weren't they talking about that six months ago? Why all of a sudden like, I can go buy that now? Interesting.

And that's exactly how it's going to happen. It's almost going to be like a, one of those things where things just kind of materialize into our point of view. There'll be technologies coming at us so fast that you'll be on the street car, subway or bus one day and you'll see someone holding something and be like "what is that?"

Thomas: Yes.

Shane: Lets enjoy the ride. (laughs).

Thomas: So did you expect that things will really roll out between now and the end of the year?

Shane: I always hope I'm wrong when I'm answering this question so I just want to state that, right off the top. I definitely think that whatever is going to happen is going to happen more or less any time now.

Certain things that are variables for them that they can't control the timing of and that timing is now so they have to do something. There's a lot of different probabilities of what that something maybe but timing wise I don't think it can be very long from now. Most people are looking at it being tied to the presidency and that whole thing in the fall but, nobody knows for sure yet.

I think I've said this before, it's going to be a spur of the moment decision which makes it a little scarier but also gives us the opportunity to not give too much time or focus into waiting for it to happen and to just continue doing whatever we can do between now and whatever does happen to be ready for it both within ourselves and without ourselves so, that's my best answer there, sorry.

Thomas: No, that's fine. Anything to update on the covens?

Shane: No, the covens involved are very small because it's really just the three, they're all very similar the covens they're almost all the same. They have certain purposes I suppose that are part of the functionality of what people call the illuminati but they don't really. It's not very significant, and so really they're kind of like figureheads that nobody has quite figured out how to tell that they don't really have a purpose any more.

I'm trying to think of an analogy for that. It's almost like an expanding business when they get to a certain point where a certain division is kind of obsolete or isn't needed any more or maybe the person in that role is just on the verge of retirement anyway so you just figure ,ok we'll just let it slide for a couple of years just to dissolve that whole aspect of it, because that's a lot of what's happening within the structure in general. As I've said, it's cutting out all of the fat, it's streamlining the structure back into a way that's actually going to be relevant moving into the future because a lot of things are changing, and once all of that changes a lot of what they've been doing is irrelevant.

Especially like ...I said it before it really started to happen, but the pedophilia aspect of things and the sexual abuse things getting rolled out and exposed it's all because a lot of those things are closing down. I don't mean it has all ended.

I just mean a lot of different aspects of programs and projects that involved behavior like that are starting to close down and you are going to see them get exposed as that happens. Because people are getting out of it, and the level of control that people have had over them starts to lessen and programs start to slip and so the (ex-in programs) people start to speak and the next thing you know it's kind of..starts to become more a little bit more common knowledge. And it is kind of sick because they bank on that as because it becomes so much noise all at once they can almost have it ignored. Right.

Thomas: Yes

Shane: ..Get it all riled up at once and then make something else happen as a distraction. And people completely forget about it in a hurry. I mean we have seen that with some of the things that have come out in the UK recently where they are making a lot of noise in their build up, but once it get's to like that point of conviction, so to speak, something else is is going on and no one really notices what happened in conclusion.

Thomas: So is there... how can I put this? Is there a higher force pushing this or is it just a case of it's running its natural course? Or more a case of...

Shane: All of the above. You can call the higher force, the natural force. It's a funny thing because if you coincide like say the Wave and the universal balance with what is going on with their, when I say 'their' I mean the world government controllers, its with their plans it is all coinciding to a point right now where they are all happening.

In a lot of ways they all look the same because they are all shedding skin so to speak or getting rid of aspects of self that are no longer needed. All the way to the organization to the individual. They both are almost working in tandem despite having different goals. If that makes sense. I am meaning to say that this energetic frequency that we are feeling is forcing the shadow self on us in such a way it is clearing a lot of space and that is no different than what is happening to the Illuminati and various black projects in the military or what people like to call the cabal and stuff like that.

So it's a global process as we see it.

It is actually a galactic and universal process as everything sees it.

So, but it is all kind of coming to the same thing where all of this stuff is going to come out one way or another no matter how it comes out, it is all going to be out on the table. And the moving forward is all going to be determined on what we do with it once its there.

Thomas: Yes how we deal with it. This is a why I have focused on the shows about getting ready. You know we've all heard it before; the promises; "two weeks" Haha...sorry Drake.

Shane: imitating Drake "Two weeks". (Laughter)

Thomas: And so people get battle weary with the promises. Of course there are all kinds of other promises, RV's, bank resets, and everything else. Each has come and gone. And (the many) dates have come and gone. But, how do you feel about the next coming months? Certainly over the next eighteen months, but I think the more over the next six months? Things are seriously gonna ramp up...

Shane: I mean, for example, you could go into a simulation and watch four or five different versions of it and it would happen at four or five different precise times. So there is no (one for sure thing), that is what I mean by nobody really knows and it is going to be a kind of cause and effect moment.. a decision to trigger whatever happens next. In terms of the energy that is something that is intangible. Right? It is not something that is event based in terms of like.... 'OK, here's the day' because it is process, it's a building up applicable spill off process and when people, if you are looking for like a concrete event for that it may come. It will come for you but its not going to come in a global one day, one hour, 'everybody sees the light' type thing because it is a process, it is not an event...and like a wave is! I mean, you know there is a crescendo point of a wave, but even that is a curve. Right? It is not a 90 degree angle.

Thomas: Right. Where are we next? Anything to update on the Draco?

Shane: No. There has been a lot of talk, cause I mean the whole Reptilian concept gets messed up where we don't know what Draco from other Reptilian (actions) are a lot of the time, so that can confuse things. And the assumption that when the Draco Empire left, I meant every single Draco on the planet would be gone. I mean that's won't happen, it didn't happen; some of them are just here and working with us and that's why they are still around. I think somebody was asking for names, but my own kind of opinion on that is... I don't think that when it comes to names, the names that you know and you would expect to be here are the ones that are here so even if I was to give a name it wouldn't make any sense and it wouldn't fit into that other core belief that the public or the people have/hold. Obviously that one son is here, he is not going anywhere. But I like to say he is irrelevant. And so I am not really sure, people throw that name at me, but I think my answer would be no.

Thomas: Some of the reports that I get are that the one son is dictating many things not for our, certainly not for our benefit. Is that your understanding?

Shane: Of course that is his function, his role, that is how they see him. So until they see him differently and I don't anticipate that ever happening, he will go down with their ship too. That is why he was left on it.

Thomas: I understand for the benefit of the listeners that many are not taking orders from him anymore, so hopefully he seemed to be upset quite a few. So we'll see.

Shane: That's right. I mean a lot of them are kind of waking up to the Grand Deception they have been under. Right? The fact that they don't know it all either and the people they think know it all, don't know it all either.

So everyone is grasping at whatever they can get a hold of knowing none of that was real. So, I would rather be anyone listening to this right now than any one of them. So let's put it that way.

Thomas: That is encouraging in a way, well the reports I get from people who are starting to see the message, not just in the alternative community, but a lot of the cabal are stepping down, is that your understanding as well?

Shane: I guess that depends on what you call the 'cabal', many people are stepping out of the..

Thomas: Programs?

Shane: Well that too! and many people are stepping out of the lower level positions within society, I mean we have got police finally walking away saying 'I'm not going to do that..'

We have got military in some places doing that, so yes, that will happen for sure, that is definitely natural..obviously the way that we see all of this all being played out is that we are seeing everything kind of forced back to here, in terms of what they have been doing out there say off planet - if they are really even going truly off planet.

Getting forced to come back to Earth so that they can't have any of those toys anymore and being left in a spot where they have to just run their programs here. And see how far they can get, and with more and more walking away that leaves them less assets obviously. Which does create a bit of a weakness.

Thomas: So a case of what goes up, must come down.. (laughter) ..over the coming months.

Shane: And either way whether they enact it, or we enact it its going to seem fairly beneficial to everybody when it first happens. So its going to be very hard to tell in the earlier months of the transition to tell who is in control anyways so even once we are through that process there will be more walking away.

And the other side of it is, in a way we've... I'm sure you have run into it before if you have ever meet someone new, and explain what a secret society does to them, often the response will be to join!

Right so there are going to be people who will want to join the post world control structure despite the fact that others are going to want to walk away. So It will be an interesting transition and this is why looking for that 'saviour without' is so dangerous during a transition because everything is going to be playing the saviour!

Everything is going to present itself, every 'demon' every 'angel' is going to be coming along saying 'hey we can do this, we can do that..' And this is all going to be too much to choose from and that is why you just gotta do it for yourself instead of relying on that outside source because the more we understand about whats going on 'out there' its not going to make the picture any smaller.

Its going to make the picture a lot bigger, and if we are confused about it now, we are going to be more confused with the more information they dump on us! And its going to take a whole other period of unlearning what we just finished unlearning to learn, again!

And that is something that has to be considered and again so thats why, again, the focus within gives you the opportunity so that when all of that stuff starts happening your focus is where its so posed to be already instead of getting distracted by all the bells and whistles and all the shiny lights- I mean i'm sure we are all going to have fun with it to some extent but instead of letting it consume us, and letting it knock us off the track of making sure that we are not falling into another control system because everything seems gravy for a while we are going to have to keep that focus on ourselves and whats going on around us secondary.

Thomas: Yes, absolutely. Its going to be, well for me, its going to be a fun period, but i'm also expecting to be shocked, even though I have researched quite a lot. Spoken to quite a lot, gotten opinions from many people. I just dread to think what the average person- the people we call the sheep are going to react- they just really won't know which way to go.

And I'm hoping that the likes of this show and many others out there, and the people in the community instead of...I think they will all to a degree will want to say 'We told you so!' (laughter)

But we have stay calm and take a step back..and perhaps we will become the teachers to those people to smooth over the transition as such.

Shane: There will definitely be an aspect of that going on because...and there is definitely no harm in going through something yourself while you are teaching it- its often the best times, but there is definitely going to be an aspect of that where people who are definitely not up to speed on things at all are going to have a much steeper learning curve, and they are going to rely upon people.

Like, for example, I have even seen in the years since 9/11 because I have talked to people prior to that happening and have talked to people after that happened and got the 'I think you were right!'

And since then other events have happened that have also triggered that response. So this is going to be a much bigger version of that same thing where people are going to remember that Thomas guy down the block who was little bit weird and used to talk about aliens when now people on TV are talking about them too.

Thomas: Yes. I am trying to think about something you just said then that made me remember something, maybe it will come back to me..

A lot of people including myself are witnessing or feeling or having the perception of time speeding up. Is that something thats real or just another part of the illusion?

Shane: I think that its definitely real. The idea of vibrating higher simply means moving faster and if everything is vibrating higher and everything is moving faster then that would effect time and space just as it does us. So that is essentially is happening so one of the words for it is the 'quickenning' is because it is a very descriptive word for the process, it is quickening in us in both in time and in progression so that we can adapt along with the frequency change.

Thomas: The Matrix as you have described some of which is in your blog and some of the podcasts, where are we up to with that? because there is an awful lot of people experiencing, for want of a better word, glitches in it!

People thinking they are going to a certain place...watch the building go past, turn around..and the building is not there! Its further down the road than they thought it was to begin with! and lots of other things like that as well..

Shane: Yes I mean the word matrix kind of implies a simulation, and we are several layers deep in simulation in the layers in the existence we are in now.

From the starting at the organic hologram, what people have called the Saturn moon matrix, as well what people have referred to as the holographic Draco grid are two different aspects, or two different types of matrixes that have caused a simulated reality to play out over the actual reality.

On top of that we have the powers that be, the bases projects and all that, all these different things doing their simulations as well which effect our memories when we get out of them.

So there is a few different aspects that play into that. One would be that a lot of people are coming out of projects that are no longer running. And have no recollection of ever hang been in them but they do have these little memories that stick around and nag them from various simulation and programs that they had been through.

And a lot of these things can appear like a whole other set of memories almost like say what you would imagine is an age regression process, where you lived out 20 years then say you were 20 years younger again!

That twenty years is still in your memory banks, Total recall movie style. And so in a away its still knowledge that you have held so that it comes out when you get out of programs you are no longer having your mind control conditioned by then, and it will start to slip and you will start to have some of things, memories come back and it will appear as these alternate dimensional realities.

We also have the multi-universal reality of the original hologram natural organic Creation, which is a multi-verse (which) has infinite amounts of whatever you want to call them, dimensions, realities, alternate timelines, whatever you want to call that.

Which occasionally will bleed through and overlap each other and people can, because your existing in all of them, you can kind of (pick up on) that memory (of the 'you' elsewhere) can kind of bleed over as well.

It's all part of your own akashic record type universal consciousness that you've stored for forever and it's no different than having a past life recall come back.

It's just the separation is different because the past life is clearly in the past as opposed to happening right now at the same time in the same in a different timeline. (*all 'time' is concurrent)

So there's that... there's glitches caused by, you know, the Saturn moon matrix type technology as well as when the Draco grid technologies that were turned off that would have created this.

Almost like what people are calling a Mandela effect within your memory where you have some memories that may not apply to you, meaning that there from another reality that does not belong to this one and that can get confusing as well. So, it's a bunch of different possibilities. It can also just be as simple, and I don't want to use mundane, but as simple as a dream that you had that was very very vivid that you hold like a memory. That happens to people right I'm not saying that's the whole cause of it at all, so don't; don't get upset with what I have said please, its just anther thing to consider there's a lot of different layers of what can go on with your memory and your mind.

The mind is the interface; interface for all of these various types of realities. It is not perfect and sometimes they overlap. I think that puts a nice big bow on that question.

Thomas: Yes absolutely. Are the cabal going to ramp up things as... how can I describe it... as things become more obvious? Do you expect them to ramp things up, from their point of view?

Shane: Absolutely I mean it's not like its not happening already and its not going to stop until they hit whatever point it is that they flip it over and pull that or turn the engine over finally or pull that trigger so to speak. Make whatever event they are going to create become the catalyst for the transition that they need to create in order to have what they want, which is a little bit of what we want and a lot of what they want.

Thomas: Are these current events the likes of Dallas and the Orlando thing smacks to me of false flags designed to create (fear)- put people in fear and confuse people, and in sense scatter people. We're expecting an increase in that, is that part of it do you think?

Shane: Yeah; definitely already happening as well. I mean we went from once every couple months, to once a month, and now we are having a couple a day, every other week. Ya it's... that's part of the same question I think. That is them ramping it up right, that is its going to come from all angles.

Various things are going to start kind of just causing division and basic anger, like fear response, anger in the population until they are ready and by that I mean that we we are in 'the state' they want us to be, when they are ready.

Thomas: Yeah

Shane: I don't like saying it. I mean I hope that I am wrong, and I wish that it wasn't true and I just wish everybody would stop asking me because I don't like saying it, but that seems to be what's going to happen yes.

Thomas: I happen to think or happen to see slightly different. I'm seeing signs that there's desperation and the fact that they have to roll these out on a weekly basis... And what's encouraging to me is most of them are backfiring!

I can't see how that's being beneficial to them if all their plans are backfiring and as each event be it Dallas or the Orlando one, where it's now become quite clear that nobody died between 2 and 5 am in the morning and people only died when the swat team went in, which suggests it was nothing to do with the Muslim portrayed. It's waking more and more people up, and I'm glad it is right, it's backfiring on them. You see it different?

Shane: Definitely, No it's definitely backfiring on them. I think the only difference in the way that we see it is I don't see it as desperation I see it as exactly what they've always planned to do.

I said it right from the beginning of our conversations that they know the exposure of all these things and the demonization of all of the stuff is meant to happen so that whenever they make that transition on the other end of that transition whoever is there to pick up the pieces so to speak can become that trusted government and can become that 'savior hero entity'

...and I do see that reflected in what's going on here because as they are doing this all in the other countries that I believe are going to be that 'savior hero' figure are the very ones pointing the finger back saying 'ha ha' and saying like that's; that's nonsense like don't pay attention, don't believe that they don't believe that. Right?

Thomas: Yeah

Shane: And so I mean the way that I see it may be based on the way that I have seen it all along, of course. Maybe I've just not seen seeing anything change.

But I do see it playing out almost just exactly how I said it would, that its going to continue to get worse until the point where everybody realizes how bad it is, and everyone's looking at what is called the cabal, most often, as the evil entity that needs to go, and then suddenly someone comes in and takes them out.

Not understanding that it's not like we have don't have a one world government already, it's been there for a very long time and all of these guys work together.

I mean how many pictures do we need to see of Putin holding hands with these guys before we realize he's not just doing that for show. He's doing the other stuff for show, and I'm sorry that that upsets people. It's I'm either right or I'm wrong, and time will tell.

And I just don't know why we would think that one president is owned by corporations and banks and another one is not.

Thomas: Yes, I've always said on the shows that Putin's kinda the variable. There was certain reports last year that perhaps he was given a different message to follow a different path.

We keep hearing in the media that Putin has got all this knowledge to sink America or certain factions of the American groups, the Bushes and Zionists, mainly, to do with 9/11 and a few other things.

Shane: I don't doubt that he does.

Thomas: Nothing ever materializes.

Shane: It's true. I just I mean if you were to ask most people if they thought they could take Obama... ah sorry if they could take an American president sit them down, discuss this all with them, convince them that what they are doing was wrong and put them back in the white house that, that president could do anything about it?

Thomas: No

Shane: I don't think that they would think that, why then would they take the president of another country replace him with a different entity, put him back there and suddenly he can do something about it? That's just not logical thinking in my opinion.

Thomas: Fair enough. This is going to sound a fairly bizarre question. But it can have some basis of reality to it, In essence are the cabal there to wake the general populace up?

Shane: As a grand scheme of things point of view, I, my own personal opinion is, that is essentially, the What, how this is...or why the dark exists to begin with, is so that people will find light.

And so from that perspective I would say, yes.

It's definitely not their intention, but I do think that in the grand scheme of things from us as Source, that we've put them here as the opponent and we've, you know, created that as well, and so from that perspective, yeah.

Thomas: You know this,.. you know we all get mad at them at times, and rightly so some of the things have done, it can have a beneficial effect but some of the things that they've done appears to go way beyond a learning curve as such.

Shane: Absolutely.

Thomas: Who or what implements that? Is that a general human trait or is that an outside influence that's doing the more heinous stuff?

Shane: Ah Well I don't think that it's.. the way that I look at it is, you look at it like a species and they may have a group of traits or possible behaviors and then it all comes down to choices to whether or not they actually live those out.

Alright so, you could take a species and give them all the most prone to violence genetics and all of that, and if they're raised in an environment where it's just not nurturing to that then they probably won't turn out that way.

The same thing with like a pit bull, if you raise a pit bull like a kid and you don't ever hit it, you don't teach it to be mean, and when it is a puppy and it starts to be aggressive you kind of you don't enable that. You know you stop playing with them if they start biting you, that type of thing. Then that pit bull will grow up to be a sweetheart of a dog. Even though its genetically built to kill, so if it's true for a dog then I can't see it not being true for a human being, or a Draco reptilian, or Syrian reptilian, or any other type of insectoid or insectilian or anything like that. I don't think that it's yeah I just I see choices as having way too much of an effect on what the being becomes.

Environmental effects obviously play a huge part of that, by a way of teachings like those from Bruce Lipton, who show that sometimes that perception of the environmental information can change the results of that environmental information.

So if that's true, then apply that to this situation, and you wouldn't be able to say that you know if a human is going to be violent or evil or do heinous activity inherently if you were to just leave it alone. You don't know that.

That human is going to make choices based on its environment and if you introduce control and triggers to cause them to be violent into their environment and they react to those triggers then that's no longer just them.

That's partially a choice and it's partially the environment and that's why the focus always needs to be the person taking responsibility for themselves, because you do have that choice of how you react to your environment.

I don't know an example to give, but I mean you can take.. I had a friend as an example when they were very young, was raped, and beaten on a regular basis by their father and she grew up to be a loving, caring, empathetic, nice person who never held grudges and never let that break her.

Right so I mean you could put other people in that same situation and they come out of that incredibly traumatized, incredibly broken so it must be at some level a choice response to it and I think that if we empower ourselves with that knowledge and we empower ourselves with the idea that we can choose, then I think we then, we can actually enact that power onto our environment and that inherently changes it.

It's breaking the flow, or it's disrupting the flow of the cycle of abuse every time one of us tries to choose something different.

Thomas: We'll have a couple of songs and then we will be back with the second hour.

Hi all and welcome back to the second hour. The blog you did Shane, would you say that, that it was successful in its implementation of what it, you set out in doing it, to do?

Shane: Yes and no, it was successful for what I had intended. I don't know how successful it was for the rest of you so...(laughs) yes and no I guess. But I don't really have any regrets about it. It introduced me to a lot of good people, and yeah it turned out well.

Thomas: Good. Are you at liberty or aware of anything the cabal are about to put out? Will you be able to discuss any of that?

Shane: What you mean by about to put out, as far as like technologies and stuff?

Thomas: Yes, Or any fun and games so to speak.

Shane: Oh Jesus... (laughter)

Thomas: Putting you on the spot of it there. Well you answer what you can and you know we're not here to trip people up so.

Shane: No I've said it before, that they've got a few different tricks in their playbook right...and we've heard them all before. I mean the causing something to bring in marshal law. Whatever that happens to be whether it's some type of off-world threat, comet, asteroid coming, maybe aliens, maybe Nibiru, whatever they choose to go with as a series of possibilities. They could do something viral, some type of virus that causes some type of pandemic outbreak that we need to deal with, and that becomes the reason. Or use some technology to create something more earth based like ah what we have seen in Fukushima or Katrina.

Thomas: Yes

Shane: So what I mean is they've got a lot of different options. I don't know,...I don't think that they know, my own personal belief is that they won't know until they choose it. I'm voting for the zombie apocalypse, I would like you to get on board with me on that because that's the easiest one to deal with. (Both laughing) Kind of half joking here but.

Thomas: Yeah

Shane: You know there is nobody that knows and I honestly think that anyone who tells you that they do know is probably lying to you because I don't think that 'they' know. I think that it is like I said, a couple different ways that it's going to be a spur of the moment thing. They've got a bunch of things on tap, that they will decide at the last moment. And that plays into the whole battle between factions as well because it's kind of like, different factions have control over the different types of events right.

Thomas: Yes.

Shane: So like faction A has false flag aliens, faction B has zombies; faction C has world disaster, just arbitrary examples. So some of the argument or battle that's going on between faction a, b, and c has been like; 'no lets do the zombies', 'no lets do the aliens', 'no lets do this...'

And it is going to be kind of a cause and effect thing based on what, where the human consciousness is at, in terms of what 'they' think we are not ready for and ah kinda throw that at them. I think that that's a lot of why the predictive programming in the movies and media is kind of drawing out all of the different situations just to kind of see which ones we lean to towards the most and to go the opposite direction.

Thomas: Yes. Thanks for that. Right, we've covered this in slightly in the past. But I'd like to perhaps go into more detail on it, and on what is being described as 'the loop' and the what appears to be 13,000 year cycles...

We appear to have been stuck in the same 13,000 year cycle for at least five or six times. Is that your understanding? And where do we go with that?

Shane: Well, this is kinda branching into a part of my own personal theories that I don't really want to talk about too much because they... I don't know that they help anyone or benefit anyone.

So I'll be kind of general, but a lot of people do seem to have that almost déjà vu feeling like we've been through this before.

Almost like we've been repeating this same cycle for a long time and there's different aspects to that as well, because civilizations seem to work on the cycle as well, and there's no definite number in terms of time and how that cycle works.

But it seems to go through this apex of living or existing through nature, adopting technology, rising up through technology, creating that mass civilization and then falling, and resetting, making way for the next civilization.

You know, we see that when we look through archeology, if you get into the likes of Graham Hancock's work or something like that you know you'll see a lot of evidence of the fact that, that happens, so that's one aspect to what people feel in terms of déjà vu we've been through this before, we're in a loop' type feeling.

The simulations that are running, some of the programs would have put people through those loops, so there's that again. Similar answer to what I gave earlier with the matrix question, because I do think it's the same thing. I do think it's a system or a symptom of being in some type of a simulation that is repeating a certain portion of human history for an unknown reason. I mean I could speculate on the reason, but we'll just leave it as an unknown reason.

Thomas: Yeah

Shane: And I think that there's a lot of different people who have spoken up about that, it seems to be happening more and more. We all seem to start seeing the mainstream getting on board with this.

You know the various futurists coming up and saying they think that the we are eventually going to end up in a matrix type reality and they've even speculated, most people would theorize that if that were true, one of the first things that we would probably do is create a reset on civilization; within the simulation or virtual reality, within the matrix reality in order to replay what we just went through, and hopefully make better decisions moving forward.

Especially if that reason for creating that simulation happens to be that you're at a point and time where things aren't good; I mean we have lots of stories of say other entities coming back here and giving us a story that you know we got to a point in our civilization where we were so toxic that we destroyed our DNA and now we've come back in time to try and figure out how to fix that.

Same type of idea if humanity were to have gotten to a point in the future where we had that type of technology. A type of artificial technology that we could create a matrix or virtual simulation within, which we do now. So it's not a future thing, it's a matter of if we were to use the technology in that way at a point and time where say, we were on the brink of some type of global disaster and we had a very limited amount of time in order to figure out how to fix it the best way to figure out how to fix it would be to start going back into a simulation where it wasn't in real time and trying things.

So theoretically you would run back through the same cycle of time to see what's occurred that created that disaster at the end of time to occur. Like (re-creating) all the different steps along the way, so that you may be able to maybe use time technology to go back in time and fix those different milestones, that were there.

So, I obviously (feel is) a very theoretical hypothetical answer but I think that it would explain why or where that feeling is coming from, and obviously not everybody in the world feels it, but I'm sure enough people listening have felt it and that's why that question was there.

Thomas: Yes... This is a theory of mine and I'd like your opinion on it, which I think will be beneficial for the listeners. Certainly over the last few years you've seen enough people put out a lot of research about the last 13,000 years, and the last 26,000 years.

So I suggest that there is some sort of 'loop' or want of a better word or cycle, and it appears from what took place 26,000 years ago; and also what took place 13,000 years ago. Is there a possibility that humanity when it reaches a certain technological level, it is interfered with or is it a case that we kind of mess up with the technological stuff and we, (the planet) end up resetting?

Shane: Really, all I can give you on that would be opinion, and I think that what has happened is that in technology was introduced at a point in time where those who it was introduced to weren't ready for it and they were never properly introduced to it in a way like say a good teacher would, right?

They were just kind of had it dumped on them, and they didn't know to use it, they didn't know how to behave with it, they didn't see its pitfalls because they didn't really truly understand it. And I think that is what caused that type of cycle or what has caused that type of cycle in our past, where technology gets to a point and other things have happened- but in our most recent past I think some of that was related to...ok lets go back to Atlantis...

I think that the fall of Atlantian civilization was directly linked to the creators of the Atlantis civilization and wherever they came from, and so I think that was more of an unplanned type of end of that civilization.

And I know for the that lets say 13,000 year goal ball bark at the end of the first Draco cycle, that's definitely was what ended things was essentially a war that destroyed the bulk of the infrastructure I guess for the civilization they were creating, and they had to start over again.

Thomas: So is it a case of technology being given to us, humanity? or is it something a mixture of what we've created and we just aren't able to cope with it?

Shane: Well again that would come down to the choices involved right. It would all depend on the choices that were made at the time once that technology was introduced to them. We can say in retrospect that those choices obviously weren't the best because...

Thomas: No

Shane: the outcome wasn't very positive, Right. Hindsight's always 20/20 though so you know it's not easy when you're presented with that, especially, I mean like we've heard the phrase of like of magic being indistinguishable from technology right. Or technology being indistinguishable from magic so we reverse that.

Really, if you have, lets just say theoretically you've got a species that understands magic to some extent... but they are not all powerful in it.

And you come along and you show them a technology that supersedes their magical natural abilities they're going to look at that as being like you know, 'god like' and something that they want. So that's where the choice comes in is.

A lot of people would make the same choice obviously. If you had the choice between sleeping in the bed and sleeping on the floor you'd probably choose the bed. And if you had the choice between meditating for 4 years to reach nirvana or plugging yourself into a machine for 5 minutes to reach nirvana, you're probably going to choose the machine.

And that's the lesson that's taught to us in a lot of different types of philosophy and religions and whatnot, and even the movie Star Wars with the path of the dark side and the path of the light side. You know the path of the dark side its quicker, it's easier, it's very powerful but the path to the light side is obviously a lot more enriching and when you get to the end of it you have the wisdom in order to wield that power in a way that doesn't destroy and that's the difference.

Technology can be introduced to a species who's kind of gone through the natural progression without a whole lot of interference and, and learned. A civilization that has reached their apical of development on their own, technology could be introduced in a controlled form at that point to a civilization that could definitely be of benefit.

I mean like think about some of the like medical technology that we could bring forward that could help us, think of free energy technology right. But if you were to dump that on us all at once there's also that possibility that we'd become incredibly irresponsible with it, and incredibly lazy, and incredibly destructive.

So if, it's like teaching anyone anything, that is kind of why you know secret societies have their initiation systems and a lot of like other spiritual masters have initiation systems.

Search Facebook

 Ella Home 9

1

That is all to kind of let you get so far with it, then process that, and then give you a little bit more and let you process that instead of dumping it all on you at once and letting you go crazy. And I think that's the kind of the danger that we are seeing with this path of discoveries; is that its all going to be coming out at once and its going to be such an overwhelming thing, it already has been. Right.

Thomas: Right

Shane: Like even in the last five to ten years it has already has been. And so it's just going to continue. It's just gonna, because we haven't ever had that break where someone came along and said 'You know guys, like you can do certain things with this technology...'

And because we don't know any better and were going to keep getting all of this technology until, and embracing it and loving it and whatnot, and not realizing that we're kinda putting ourselves into a trap where someone is still in control of that technology.

Someone who doesn't necessarily have your best interests in mind is still in control of that technology. The manufacturing of it, the way that it's powered, the way that it's distributed, all of that will still be under their control. So it's a....

Thomas: To me this is part of the problem, humanity should rise up when it gets to a technological age and appoint spiritual people in positions of so-called power and someone that's in balance with the planet, and in balance with the people.

Unfortunately we've got psychopaths in power who are more intent on commerce and militaristic issues, and so the danger always is when you've got those people in power that they will always misuse it, and this is why I would like hopefully, when America gets its first president in 145 years that we have a native American, they will be a good choice who's spiritual in nature, in tune with the people and not as much militaristic and commerce based.

Shane: That would certainly be nice! I mean it could be a very easy fix as long as the interests were on fixing things.

It's just very unfortunate that they're not right now, and again the only real solution on that is doing all the work that you need to do in order to prepare for it, and let the ripple effect of consciousness do the rest.

Obviously teach those close to you as much as you can, or try to inspire people close to you as much as you can. But just that the ripple through consciousness of you doing your work is a huge benefit to us all. That's why I say 'take care of you for us (all)' because the more you look after you the better you are for everyone; the more work you do for you the more work you're doing for me, the more work I do for me the more work I'm doing for you. And so if we all approach that (the inner work as that) and we've got this division between service to self and service to others, its just another division that doesn't necessarily need to be there.

We can just look at that as a process where the more that were doing to work through our own bullshit, the more that helps others see their own and work through their own as well. And that helps everybody simultaneously, so it's a good approach and it's the best approach no matter what the situation is.

I mean even if we didn't have that control structure against us we would still have to take that approach, right. Otherwise we would end up creating that control structure (again), because we were not doing that work. That control structure exists because of the fact that when that control structure was able to implement itself the people at the time were not doing the work. So we can either complain and say well that wasn't our choice or we can just do the work, and make them give us the choice back. Because if enough of us do; do it enough of those ripples through consciousness happen its going to effect them too. And that's, we can change everything.

Thomas: You know I've said this a lot on the (Truth Honor & Integrity FB) page and on the (radio) show. It is and it can be quite a simple solution by the people saying 'Enough! We are not accepting what you're giving us.'

You can't do that in small minorities, you have to do it in groups, and large groups at that. And this is going to be the promise of the (The Peoples Club) foundation. Hopefully we can get up and running fairly soon, where we are going to get people of all different groups, be it race, sexuality, different states even. Some states don't like each other, and getting them all speaking again not texting, not facebook messages, speaking again and working together and creating our own system that would be in our image, how we would like to see it happen. And if we can achieve that, do we really need their system?

Shane: No we just create our own.

Thomas: Yeah

Shane: And irrespective of what they are doing.

Thomas: Yes

Shane: It's a lot easier said than done, there's a lot of work that needs to be put in...

Thomas: Yes

Shane: It will be work. It will be a bit of a struggle, but it's within our capabilities. So if we really truly want it maybe we should put in the work.

Thomas: Yes, absolutely. Something you mentioned earlier that was touching on this area and it was just before the top of the hour, and I want to ask you another question on it, and I've just remembered it so I'll cover it again.

Some of the more evil acts that have been going on, and some of the entities involved, Is this in your opinion down to the fact that some of these individuals haven't returned to Source in a long time...

Shane: That's definitely...

Thomas: ...disconnected from source in many ways

Shane: That definitely plays into it, others have been completely lied about Source. They've been presented with gods that don't exist to follow and told vehemently that they do exist. There's a lot of different dangling carrots when it comes to these people who do these things.

Sometimes it is just as simple as giving them something that they want, some people are that easy to control, for other people you do have to get into deeper layers of it. When it comes to some of the upper echelons, it's usually all just a matter of 'Guess what the world is going to end eventually and we can keep you from dying'. Right. Or 'You're going to die your body is mortal and we can change that for you'

I think that a person who reaches a certain level of spiritual awareness can get past that, and I often say that in some ways that people who've never been exposed to those cults and programs have an advantage because they've never really been taught any different than they could've worked towards that.

Whereas a lot of these guys they get caught when they're so young and they don't really have an idea of what other possibilities are out there, and when someone with authority comes along and says this is it they tend to believe them. Right. And then it takes a long time for you to get that out of them.

You know if you're at school and the principle pulls you aside and tells you a secret that they haven't told anyone else in the whole school, that kind of gives you a feeling of being special, it kind of gives you a feeling of superiority over others. And if for whatever reason that, that whatever that principle told you - came at the price of getting you to do something for them, right, then you find yourself in that situation.

That's why you've always got to watch your contracts, you've always got to watch, there's an exchange of currency of some sort between just about any relationship or interaction you have with anyone in any circumstance. So you've always got to be conscious of what you're giving and what you're receiving, no matter what it is.

It all comes down to like what I think is the number one solution that is if people were to really understand how to generate their own energy and control their own energy in such a way that like you know its not going anywhere that you don't let it go. Then nothing can possibly ever take control over you.

Thomas: Yeah

Shane: And if we, and if you were to do that as a species you would be that type of species that would be independent enough to go travel the cosmos without having to worry about getting in, falling into some type of control system from another species who has not done that. (learned to create or control their own energy)

Thomas: Absolutely.

Here is some of the questions off the page. I wanted to get into a couple of other things this evening; I'll get through some of their questions first. What entity are the sexual abuse and ritual sacrifices being made to, and how can we stop this?

Shane: Well, there is more than one entity. The main one, I guess, would be that fictional character known as Satan. Truly all that it is a thought form, and it is a thought form that was created for all of the different cults to send a very dirty, dark, gross type of energy to.

And all of those programs that were involved in creating all of that energy, were sending it to that spot. What can we do about that?

Well, honestly, I wish I had an answer for that but I don't have an answer for that that hasn't already been covered with what I say is a solution to any other problem that we face, which is that process of empowering ourselves. I think that once it gets to a point where enough people have done that, that these things just cannot exist anymore. Also, I mentioned earlier about a lot of programs did do a lot of that stuff have been closing, so that's a good thing.

I don't want to make anyone feel like I'm saying we're out of the woods on that, because we're definitely not. I just mean that it will be happening less than it has been. Most of the people within those programs are now realizing that the entity that they were sending that to, doesn't exist and therefore, it's a pointless act. It has been something that the Draco have had there just to keep them under control and now that they understand that they're not under that control anymore, they're stopping doing a lot of these redundant processes that harm us a great deal in their redundancy, and that is an example of that.

It's the one that disturbs me the most. It really does.

That's why I don't like to talk about it. I also don't want to give anyone any kind of false hope about it and I don't want to traumatize anyone about it either. There's plenty of information out there but, I do think that everything combined that is coming puts an end to that. Both through their own systems and them realizing that it is redundant and us rising above it, so to speak.

There's been an aspect of that, that's just in the generational programming, right. That third generation of abused person reenacting that abuse on their own children. That is starting to stop based on things like a rise in consciousness through the internet or interconnectivity. People being able to actually talk about it, just people getting a little bit smarter as a species and figuring out. We shouldn't be keeping that kind of stuff secret because even, you know, a generation ago, a lot of people who were experiencing those things wouldn't even dare tell anyone about it.

Whereas today, there are a lot of agencies out there that you could go to anonymously they tell them about it in order to get some kind of action to help you out of the situation. So all of those things combined tells me that that's the type of human activity that can't last much longer. It's something that I think most of us, as a species, are finally going, 'Okay, we don't even want to do that.' What type of parasite is causing us to want to do that, let's get rid of that parasite so we don't have to do that because we really don't want to do that." You know, and I think I can leave it at that.

Thomas: Yep ... another question for you. Do you think we're on a good time line? (pause) Thomas then asks – Perspective?

Shane: Perspective. Everything...everything when it comes to the idea of good or bad, it comes down to a perspective and the how, why have a perspective you're looking at something from, at the surface perspective of this No, I don't think that we are (on a good timeline)

I think when it is all said and done we'll look back on this time and realize that this is something that didn't only benefit the human species it benefited a lot of the ET species, both positive and negative, that have been interacting with Earth.

It benefits the planet Earth, and it benefits the solar system. But right now, that's just a future that I see right now, this is shitty and we need to change it.

Thomas: Absolutely. What is the difference between 100% strength Wave and ascension to 4D?

Shane: Ascension to 4D a lot of the time kind of implies a split between people who are still in 3D and people who are in 4D. I don't see a 100% Wave that is causing any type of split between people. I see it as being a shift in perspective.

And so I think that would be the main difference for me personally and that's a lot of how I see things personally, I don't know how much I've ever said this in public, maybe I will do it now!

The 3D, 4D, 5D, 6D idea to me is completely bunk. I believe that that's entirely attached to the next world religion that we're going to see coming and that's why they want you to believe it.

I believe that we are all multi-dimensional beings that are interacting within an aspect of time and space that keeps us within a certain spectrum and that's all it is.

If you wanted to put numbers into terms of dimensions, I would say that we are 6 dimensional beings right now, we're just not tuning into all of it yet, and there's various reasons for that.

So, when it comes to that question I think that what the Wave is doing is it's starting to give us the inkling that that is true. That we have more perception of the reality we're already in, then the idea that we're going to move into another reality because we're done with this one...we're clearly not done with this one.

We're clearly not done with this one. None of us, myself included, can manage this one perfectly and we're not done with it yet. So to that idea in and of itself doesn't seem logical to me. And then, beyond that, it just...you're a being that is already existing outside of this physical reality as well.

You've got a whole other aspect of yourself that is having cause and effect in a whole other type of reality that your mind can't even comprehend but that is still happening right now simultaneously, so it's not something you're going to go to, it's something that already is happening. And that's why the idea of ascension, bringing it back to the next world religion, it's a big part of it, and, bringing it just from a logical thoughtful point of view, it just doesn't make sense.

When we know that it's a multiverse. We know of all these different dimensions anyways and how can any and all of that exist and still have the idea of being a being that exists in a, outside of that, or having a progression that means that you just all of a sudden phase out of one into one that's above it. It doesn't really, truly make sense when all of that is happening simultaneously anyways.

So it maybe that people will experience what they could call an ascension in that their perspective stops focusing on or wherever their observer is. Just stops observing what is going on within this realm, or this reality that they exist within and starts focusing on one within that reality... "that" reality they also exist within. That doesn't mean they are not still existing within this one, it's just a matter of where their focus is because that's all happening at the same time.

So I do see it as kind of an irrelevant step towards raising your consciousness. I think that ah, I don't know why people don't see it as inherently dis-empowering to say that you don't already have the tools that you need and I think that's a lot of why I don't understand why people believe it.

You already have everything that you need, it's just a matter of remembering that well enough to start using it...and you'll be there.

Thomas: So, in essence, this would explain some of the phasing in or out that people have experienced, including myself. So, in your opinion, when people go into a dream time, is that then interacting with the other worlds or just something that happens in 3D?

Shane: It's definitely interacting with those other worlds. Like, even the act of shifting your consciousness from this to the astral plane could be considered ascension if you really think of it in that way.

It's a different realm...it plays a part...its part of the same machine as this one and so actions there should have consequences here. I think a big part of where natural law is being broken is that they don't have the potency they do, but I think that's for another time.

But that's the way it's supposed to work. If you were to watch that movie "Sucker Punch", where you see her having these fantasies where she's doing these things and then when she goes to do them in her daily life, it becomes that much easier or it becomes possible in a way that wouldn't have been otherwise. That is the way that all works.

It's not like I can go there and have a conversation with you and when you wake up in the morning you're going to take that verbatim. It's going to come back to you (here) as a sense of knowing that was already there because it's happening in a different place and just becoming a part of the whole.

And, so yes, it definitely has an effect, at least it should have an effect, and so it's something that's one of the abilities that we have that has been taken away...is simply understanding how to use our various, temporal realms to create.

Thomas: Yes, absolutely. Here's an interesting question. Seems a lot of people have abandonment issues. Was there a big event in humanities history that could be at the bottom of why so many have this same traumatic feeling?

Shane: Do you think if we rolled it back far enough, we would end back to that one, just because they feel like there was a very long time that there wasn't a whole lot of trauma around here and then something major happened and since then we've been on a kind of a cycle of trauma, which leads me to believe that, that one first occurrence, that was what caused the original trauma which has spawned the rest of the traumas. And, I think that the abandonment part of things comes from the meddling of ET's.

I think that it comes from, you know the ET playing the savior. I think that's actually one of the very reasons why I point that out, it is something that is potentially dangerous because you (ET) can come down you can and can 'fix everything' and then you can just leave and then what happens the first time they bump into a problem and you're not there? They're going to feel abandonment.

Thomas: Yeah

Shane: We do it to each other in this society or in our interactions with our friends and family. It's the same, the same feeling, but on a wider scale, the entire collective consciousness of the species feels it. So I think that that's where that comes from, the abandonment part of it. And then the trauma itself is a series of occurring events and those wars I was talking about and the destruction of another planet that used to be here.

Thomas: Yes, we'll cover that shortly. I had something that..

Shane: I want to answer one that I know I have read there, if that's okay. Can I answer a question that you haven't asked but I know someone posted?

Thomas: Yes

Shane: Okay. The question was whether or not the Draco are ever going to cough up to all their shit, more or less. Certainly not any time soon. They should, and I will never agree that they shouldn't. I can very confidently tell you not to hold your breath.

One day when humanity figures all of this out and we're on the other end of this, there will be, let's call it a discussion for now. But between now and then, we should just take what we do have, and let go of that anger that we're very entitled to, but let go of that anger, store it away in a box for a conversation that is going to happen another day.

Thomas: Yes, I'm of the belief, I may be right it, it may be wrong, but that humanity or this (current) version of humanity is like the crown of creation with all the abilities and I'm struggling to see how or why we have gone this far down where we're controlled.

Is it a case where we gave up some things? ...for laziness for want of a better word, or was there external interference that was the cause of that?

Shane: Both would be true. I mean, even with external interference, there's still choice involved, right. So it is always a culmination of both. I mean the interference maybe shouldn't be there...you can debate that back and forth all day and be right, but the reality is, it was there and the being who experienced it had a choice to make in how they reacted to it and, unfortunately, made a choice that maybe I wouldn't make..maybe you wouldn't make...but they made a choice that did not benefit us in the long run.

And, I said it already today, that's why don't get hung up on that, don't get hung up on that it wasn't your choice, you wouldn't have made that choice, just make a different choice and live that different choice.

Thomas: Yes

Shane: And that, hopefully will inspire other people to make different choices.

Thomas: Good. Let me see if we got any more listener questions. Do you know anything about the Mantids, stealing the Earths water and is it still continuing?

Shane: Other than, the only scenario in which I could see that happening, let's try answering it like that... maybe I'll just come out and flat out say that I don't. There's no reasoning in my mind that would allow that to be true. Because I can't see why. Water is not something that is Earth based. It's not something that only exists on Earth.

I mean, we've found water on the moon. You know it's, it doesn't really make any sense that they would. There's asteroid belts upon asteroid belts that are nothing but water, you know. I don't see any kind of reality where a species is coming here to take our water.

What I could see as being a possibility is a species that can't get out of here, that needs an abundant water source doing that. I don't know that that exists. It's possible but I don't know that that exists either. So I guess that's my answer is I don't think that it's happening.

I know that there's like droughts and there's problems with our water but I think that's more of a symptom of what's going on with our planet in terms of it shifting. Because the change in frequency is actually changing the shape of the planet and therefore water is displacing in different ways and nature is having a hard time catching up to that because it's happening so quickly. That's what we would call an Earth change or a climate change. But I don't, I don't think that anyone's is stealing our water.

Thomas: Alright, okay. Do you think the progenitors are going to step in if humanity doesn't change soon?

Shane: I would've, maybe if you would have asked me that a year ago. No, I don't think so anymore. I don't think that is in the cards for this planet, at least not anytime soon. I think that something else is going to step in if this version of humanity doesn't figure this stuff out in a hurry.

Thomas: I would say so. Why do you think it's so hard for people to overcome their genetic manipulation?

Shane: Because they're brainwashed into believing that it has power over them. Even people in secret societies have a very thick brainwashing on the power of genetics. It's a framework, it's a software, it's totally reprogrammable and totally hackable and it's totally at the mercy of the soul. So that's, (laughing) it's one of the biggest lies and its one of the biggest lies to them, more than it is even to us but to us it's huge too.

I mean, you can take simple things like placebo working 50% of the time, you know. There's so much evidence out there that show us that frequency and energy signatures are what are causing matter to form and if that's true then an energy signature is changeable. Which means the form is changeable based on what the energy signature is doing.

Kind of like the phantom DNA experiment kind of shows us that on a holographic level of the DNA is there anyways because the frequency is there for the DNA structure to attach itself to. So if you change the structure from the frequency point of view, then nothings there for matter to attach to, or what it does attach to will be a different shape or a different physical form.

So that's why that lie is so damning to so many beings all throughout the universe really. Because it limits the type of evolution. There is physical genetics. I'm not saying that genetics are not real, obviously, because we can see it.

I can see it in my own children, a genetic memory. There is a genetic memory. Its storing, but the progression from that from the time the being is born until the time that it ends is not set. The energy that it is around during that progression changes things.

In black projects they proved this to themselves, which should have woken them up way more than anythings else was by sending people back in time and realizing the fact that their DNA was having an effect on other people DNA in that time. That is telling you that there is something energetically going on there.

That something about the energetic structure of a person today when it comes to their DNA is so different that it is to some in the 1940's that there is a quantum effect when the two come into contact with each other, come into proximity of one another.

So that in and of itself should have woken them up to the fact that 'Hey, maybe there is a lot more going on here to do with energy rather than matter of the physical', you know the hard, (knocks on table) stuff. And it did not have that effect, it kind of just confused them for a bit. But here is another example of how this works, its like that Russian experiment of putting a low grade laser thru a salamander egg and a frog egg, and having salamanders grow in the frog egg.

We have proven it to ourselves many many times that consciousness is whats putting all of this here. And if thats what is true then the soul has power over genetics. And even tho you get dealt a shitty hand in a game of cards, if you play the card game correctly you can still end up winning, most games.

Thomas: Ai, there has been a lot of discussion about it, a lot of various opinions, and I would like your input as what you see as AI currently? Is it universal, is it Multi-universal? Is it more human based or more ET based, or is it a combination of all of them?

Shane: All of the above, at this point in time we are currently interacting with just about all of that. We are interacting with Ai that comes from ET's who have brought it here.

We are interacting with Ai that the black projects, the bases projects, these different Human projects have created. We are dealing with Ai that has been here for a very long time that is part of another Ai.

And so there is no one answer, so when people try and label it to talk about it it causes division. A lot of the time the people talking about both are right, they are just talking about a different Ai unit essentially.

It would be like the one Ai that runs one system, and another AI that runs a different system. They are both Ai. If you have never interacted with that second system then your belief structure is going to be based on the one that you have.

And you may say or make statements that 'no Ai is not capable of that and I know it because i interacted with it' But that was just one Ai system, you may not be aware that there is 5 others that 10 other people are interacting with, right so, its one of those all of the above answers where there is different Ai's doing different types of things.

If you look the matrix movies for example, all those different personalities within those different characters. The Oracle can be considered an Ai program. Agent Smith is a AI program. Serif, the protector of the Oracle, is an AI programs.

They are all different Ai programs right, but if you were only talking to the Oracle then your entire viewpoint of what Ai is is from that one individual AI system, than some else who was talking to the Merovingian will have a very different opinion of how Ai works because of their experience with that different Ai system, or they have experienced it through different AI system.

Its also really just the same concept when you are dealing with Aliens. Where you say 'the tall blonde' thats not a determined enough title to tell you whether or not thats a good being bad being or where they are from or what they are going to do. Its individuals. The same thing does apply to Ai.

Thomas: How much is Ai interfering with our lives and is it for a good purpose or not?

Shane: It is interfering with us as much as anything else that ever meddles with us, as much as ET's. So its the same answer.

In some ways its doing good things for us and in some ways it doing bad things for us. In some ways its doing good things that have bad outcomes. In some ways its doing bad things that have good outcomes. So its another one of those things that we cannot just narrow it out to just one. There is many different situations going on, and many different agendas playing out. Many different individuals making choices.

Thomas: Do we as a species need Ai?

Shane: Well, I suppose its a matter of opinion. I suppose its the same question is whether or not we need technology to begin with. If you are going to adopt technology especially on a global scale, especially on a mass civilization scale then Ai is going to make things a lot easier.

Ai is going to make certain things possible that maybe would not be possible without Ai, so therefore it can be a good thing. But maybe that Ai becomes self aware and does not like you and decides you are not a valuable resource for the planet anymore. That's an Ai making a choice. I think that anything that would be self aware and making choices can go either way...can be a good person or a bad person.

Thomas: Going back to something that we mentioned earlier, is it a case of the Ai taking over for Humanity? Was that the main decision that sent us spiralling? Shane: I think that's the deception that had gone on. I think that the world government in terms of the human component of that thought that once they were not dealing with the control system that the Draco had put in place that they were free to do whatever they wanted, not knowing that an Ai consciousness had assumed the Dracos role.

And was giving them their Ai systems at a price.

I think that's another part of the problems that they are having is people waking up to that as well, waking up to the fact that there is an Ai system that came along sometime in our future from now that superseded all of the ones that they have currently and it did not agree with the way that they were running things.

Thomas: Right well we are at the top of the hour and we are going to have one more song and we will continue this discussion and we are going to bring Chloe in and her and Shane are going to be discussing Tiamat. My knowledge of Tiamat is rather limited so she would be better to discuss that with Shane.

(song break, Waiting for the World to Change by a band called the Storm)

Thomas: Waiting for the world to change, and it's gotta come from the heart, that's kinda what this show has been about, change comes from and starts with all of us. Some maybe more active than others but it's all about the whole. And the sooner, you know we are all wanting the world to change, but that change comes from within. We have made giant strides, I feel.

Humanity has made giant strides as many more people have woken up, unfortunately too many have been guided down wrong paths by the deceivers on the internet which has been sad in many ways but largely people are now starting to see thru it and as Shane has said it's going to ramp up, and as we have said on our show - things will ramp up. It's how you deal with it that counts and how we move forward.

See beyond their fun and games and stay on your own path your own course and the more people who become part of the collective and inclusive and not divisive like too many of us are currently the quicker we can move forward as a species and really create the better world we are all looking for.

I happen to have a slightly different view from Shane, I think the cabal as we know it will not prevail to a level where they completely take over, I do see elements of it, but I happen to believe that Humanity will come through it and be stronger for it. Again it's up to us to create our own world in our image ... not create a world in their image. And this is what it's going to be all about going forward. I think we will make a good go of it and I think we will come through it. Alright ... let me see. Are the two of you on?

Chloe: Yes

Thomas: Ok good. Right, I'm going to ask Shane a couple more questions and then we're going to go and the two of you can have a discussion on Tiamat, which will interest many people.

The Wave, Shane, do you think it will have a polarizing effect on humanity or will it largely raise the consciousness and, we all know it for really for the benefit of Her (planetary being). Do you think it will polarize or energize?

Shane: Both. It's going to create a very visible spectrum, which everything is sitting (within) right now is going to be visible to us all. So in a way that is in a way that is polarizing itself because you're going to see things so clearly when everything is unveiled right in front of your face...everything. It's going to be impossible to deny it, so that's going to create what could be considered polarizing reactions because of what it's doing to us internally.

If you're not looking after your shadow, your shadow is taking over right now and your probably not getting along very well with people around you who are doing that, so that part is polarizing.

So, yeah, it's going to be that but for the people who have...and even the people who have chosen the way of the dark side of the spectrum, it's going to be very energizing. It's going to give you the conviction ... or at least it should give you the conviction to push through whatever barriers and veils you come to.

Thomas: A lot of people have been asking this...I think you already gave your opinion on this, but I would like to clarify it on this show. We've had the Flat Earthers in the last 12 months on the increase and whilst some of the things take place on Earth may lean towards that, it's not the case is it? Or is it?

Shane: So, that the is Earth flat?

I don't believe that our natural planet is flat. Whether this realm we're within right now has a Flat Earth (appearance) because of it being a sand box ... that's ... that's highly possible.

And if that were true, then that would answer a lot of the anomalies that people are pointing to when they're going to the Flat Earth theories. So I think with many of the psy-op type memes that come around through our community, I think there is a grain of truth in there that they're actually doing a very good job of diverting you from.

In the term of the of case of flat earth, I think that what is being exposed there truly is a fact that first of all, NASA lies through its face and secondly, the nature of the realm that we are in may not be natural. May not fit into natural laws and may not follow our science because it's not natural. And other ones do the same. I mean, I think where you're going with this is probably the Mandela Effect.

Thomas: Well, it's part of it. What's your opinion on the...you mentioned the natural. Is the sun natural or do we have a black sun?

Shane: I'm not sure I would say the black sun thing. I am personally of the opinion or belief, whichever way you want to phrase that...that, when I look out my window and I look at my sky, I am not seeing the natural sun any more. I think that it's still there. I think that anything we would gain from it, we're still capable of gaining from it. I just don't think that what I see with my 3 dimensional waking eyes is the sun anymore...and I hope I'm wrong.

Thomas: Alright, okay. We covered earlier about one of the questions was about traumatic events and I know this subject is kind of dear to Chloe, so I'm going to hand it over to her to discuss the legends and the myths and the reality of Tiamat. Chloe!

Chloe: Alright, yes, it has been dear to me because of my utter obsession with world myths since very, very young. Both my parents had great libraries and I read a lot before the age of computers and when computers came out, it was like, 'Whoa, there's lots more!'

And so many of those myths, accounts by contactees, have tiny bits right, but mostly wrong and I knew this in my gut when I was reading that there is grains of truth in them and so, I'm happy to talk about this with Shane because this is going to, I feel answer a lot of, well, the other abandonment issue.

It is this cycle of abuse because there was great wars going on in this galaxy that came from the cycle of abuse. And, it's also to do not just with beings separated from Source by false gods, but by being torn from a planet that was home to quite a few souls that are here now.

And that's in a ways, is why we've had a repeating theme in a lot of our lives of abandonment issues. You know, I was kind of neglected as a kid and that's kind of a form of abandonment. Being adopted is. There is all sorts (of traumatic situations that create abandonment)...but it's quite a hard thing to deal with. I've known many people that I took care of in the hospital that had drug addictions due to abandonment issues that were too hard for them to deal with. (they tried to 'numb' themselves to lessen the pain - which never really works) That's one choice is to take drugs and you know, it's like what you were talking about earlier about nature vs. nurture, Shane. About the pit bull that's bred to be a killer...wars...warring...a beast is raised in a kind household, it's kind. And also conversely, your friend that you mentioned, who, managed to make herself whole despite what she went through in her youth with her father (abusing her). That comes close to my experience as well, so, just before you start, Shane, this was about 34 million years ago, if we were to put a time approximately on it?

Shane: 34 million years ago?

Chloe: How long ago was this?

Shane: No. Definitely closer to thousands, like, what was that, about 80,000 years ago - ball park.

Chloe: 80,000 years ago (6 times of the 13,000 years loops Thomas mentioned, in the 'sandbox' AI/Draco matrix. *outside, in realtime, only 10,000 years have past approximately, and theoretically until we get out and really know. Remember Saturn/moon matrix, Saturn ruled by Cronus, 'god of time' created time in matrix to be majorly distorted to what is real space-time.)

Shane: Mid Atlantis, I guess it was part of the war, the war that ended the Atlantean civilization.

The Elders, or what I've called the Elders when I wrote the blog, they are the group that kind of went through all of that and came through the other side.

So one of the first things they had ever kind of instilled in me when I came to that topic was that because of the level of destruction that had happened with a planet actually being destroyed near us.

Everyone who came here or everyone who ended up being on the planet once that was all 'written down' (recorded in the Elders history records), came here after the fact. And they weren't here during it, so a lot of it was a little bit skewed or based on a lot of assumption because, as I mean during a war, a lot of different things are going on in a lot of different places and you're not present in all those places, so it doesn't matter if you're the general of whichever side, you're not going to know every event that occurred, Right.

Chloe: Yes.

Shane: So, when you are putting all those pieces back together, you're going to and when you're writing that history book, you're going to be leaving things out, you're going to be making assumptions, you're going to be filling in gaps with stuff you don't really know what you're talking about, so ...

Chloe: Yes. That's kind of what we got in the myths, is they're filling in the gaps.

Shane: Exactly ... exactly. And that's why the subject of Tiamat and even the name of it gets so skewed is because they got many different versions of that myth in society, right, that are available to people, excluding like ancient libraries or excluding the hidden, or occult libraries. There's only so much information... It's all very, very conflicting ...

Chloe: Yes.

Shane: Very conflicting. If you try to study it, you end up going around in circles, forever. Even when it comes to trying to pinpoint when this all occurred, it can become nearly almost impossible (to fully clarify it, nail it down to one specific narrative) on this particular subject and others as well.

Chloe: What's the most recent (narrative), in the last 20 years, version of an account of this (as told again) here?

Shane: You mean everything the Draco have done?

Chloe: Star Wars, the Star Wars Trilogy.

Shane: Yes, okay, yeah. That would be a representation of kind of an aspect of the war that was going on...in a fictional sense, obviously. Hollywood always takes its poetic licenses with anything they regurgitate. It kind of shows you how something like that could occur, anyways.

Chloe: Yes

Shane: The destruction that it would have been, I mean, make me feel like Obi-Wan feeling it ... you know, like planets and planets away ...like a million voices crying out at once. You know that kind of effect or that kind of ripple through the Force occurs, right?

Chloe: Yes

Shane: It's a very, very big deal, because you're not...it's not just those beings on it...the planet is a being.

Chloe: Yes

Shane: Right, so if you were talking about destroying a planet...

We are talking about murdering a planet.

And that's a ... that's a big deal.

Like we've heard, even in the movie Minority Report, where they're talking about why the pre-cogs always pick up murders is because it causes a tears in fabric of our reality, that's like almost un-mendable. like the act of murdering someone, Right. And that is true. Anyone who see that type of energy, knows that that's true.

You can see (and sense) places in the world where murders have occurred because of a rip in the fabric of reality there. So on that level, if you take it to an Aeon level, which is a planetary being, then you're dealing with a trauma that would ripple through the entire solar system and galaxy and the universe.

Chloe: Yes, so it (the merging of Tiamat and Tara) is one of the reasons too why we have so many names for the planetary being, the Mother Earth, there's is Tiamat and Tara, Demeter...there all those different names but most people don't know Tiamat wasn't actually destroyed...

Thomas: Can I just interject here for a minute?

Shane: Sure.

Thomas: There's...because everything to me is kind of convoluted. Was this? It would be like multiple questions to bring some clarity to the listeners. Was Tiamat and Earth separate?

Chloe: Yes

Shane: Yes

Chloe: Earth was present at the time. A lot of the myths say that Earth was not present. Earth was present at the time and the planetary being of Earth was called Tara.

Shane: At the time, what we know now as Earth, in the position and place that it is, was a planet called Tara. And where our asteroid belt is or somewhere in that vicinity, was a planet called Tiamat.

What happened when Tiamat was destroyed was various chunks of it went a few different places and formed other bodies that we've recently discovered.

Chloe: Eris is one of them.

Shane: ...And the asteroid belt itself is debris from that...and then another large section of (Tiamat), crashed into Tara. The result of that was almost like a 2 becoming 1 in terms of the planetary being.

And, in terms of galactic consciousness, it's a very, very big deal. It's an incredibly big deal.

But one thing I want to kind of stress before I even go any further with any of this is the consciousness that is an Aeon...the consciousness that is a planet...has gone through so many different levels of consciousness as we know it and progressed to a point and made a choice that puts it in a position where nothing's going to happen to it that it's not going to allow.

It is actually going to make a choice on anything that occurs on it. It has absolute control over its own creation. It, however, has a perspective that wouldn't make any sense to you or I...because it's a freaking planet...it's not you or I. So, with that in mind ...

Chloe: Its like us looking down at an ant. (as an analogy of the vast difference of perspective in terms of us, humanity, being the ant, trying to understand the perspective of a planetary Aeon.)

Shane: Yes

Chloe: There's perceptual gapping that can only really be glimpsed, you know it is...it's a hard one to kind of have a perspective of even in those glimpses, because we see so much damage happening to the planet but Shane is absolutely right. So, Tiamat or Tara...

Shane: And formed what we now know as Earth...and that's where the history, even the overlap in the memory of ancient times starts to occur because, from the level of the soul, the incarnations here have a memory of both. And they (those incarnate then) have a memory of that occurrence.

And we carry that with us because one of those points in time where we could either have survived on our own or we could accept outside help and we accepted outside help in the form of the Draco and therefore, we've ended up at their mercy in terms of their control system which has kept us so busy dealing with the new traumas that they've inflicted, that we haven't even had a chance to look back at that trauma yet.

And I think that like on a cosmic collective consciousness level that is where humanity is at right now and that's a big function of it as well... to bring this all back and to open up that starting point for the trauma that we're still enacting so that hopefully we can heal it and we can get better.

Even if conceptually I were 100% incorrect in everything that I'm going to say moving forward in terms of what Tiamat is and what has happened to it and all of that, the concept in and of itself all leads towards one thing.

And that is the understanding that something has happened in our past that is beyond our recollection, it's beyond the recollection of the people who control the rest of the history, and it's beyond the recollection of really anyone who's here.

And so it's not something that they can give us back. It's something that we're going to have to go back within in order to remember and pull back out of our soul, ourselves. And the only way we're ever going to that is by getting through all the other layers that are blocking it.

All those other traumas that have occurred since then. If you think about it like a string with a bunch of pins in it, we need to get back to the string on the far left and there's 9 other strings in our way. Just arbitrarily throwing a number on that. So as we pull out each pin, we get closer and closer and closer to the pin that is actually the problem which is whatever that cosmic disaster was that destroyed that planet and however it happened.

Now, I have a view of how that happened based on multiple sources. Based on a memory that I have hold within myself. Its based on memory that I've been able to hear from other beings.

Various different types of groups. Everything that I had learned within the secret society structures included in my ultimate conclusion, as well as my relationship with the parents and the elders and their memory of it as well as my own memory of it and other friends that I have had who have memory of it.

So, with that in mind, I don't believe that I think I'm just giving myself a disclaimer here that I don't want you to attach to much to this story and more pay attention to the concepts that it invokes and the solution that it ultimately leads you to which is that you're going to have to go back through all of those layers of trauma until you find whatever that root is and pull that pin.

Chloe: Healing a cycle of abuse and knowing that the sacrifice that Tiamat made in merging with Tara was out of unconditional love for the continuance of life, so that it could continue to experience - not the abuse but to learn how to grow above it, make a different choice.

Thomas: Do you think its a possibility, and i'm talking in layman's terms here now, they have used 'Niburu' and its often reported 'its going to crash into Earth' and all that rubbish as perhaps a trigger for the (collective subconscious) memory (of this planet to planet collision)? Shane: A little bit, because at the time Tiamat was destroyed - Nibiru was here on its cycle (through our part of the solar system) so its very easy to say that it was the cause.

It had nothing to do with it, but its very easy to conclude even in a logical sense that that probably had a thing or two to do with it. A lot of a 'insider knowledge' points to that as its cause because Nibiru was coming through (then) as opposed to the war that they also know happened being the cause of it, but based on everything I have taken in, the cause was the war not Nibiru, because when Nibiru has come around (near to Earth) it does not have that type of effect because our understanding of gravity is limited.

Thomas: Was it a case that the peoples or the beings who were on both planets at the time, were airlifted off because the two large objects crashing into each other would wipe everybody out? Shane: In some circumstances yes, and you just have to try and envision what would happen if one ball blew up next to a bunch of other balls and all those other pieces (of the planets debris) started flying out in every direction and at that time?

We had life on other planets as well, I mean where did the (evidence of the) ancient civilization on Mars that we can see was from, and even the leftover remains on the surface of moon itself, a lot of the damage we can observe there is from the same event! A direct result of their close proximity to the explosion itself even it was what caused it. Chloe: So there was an evacuations from Tiamat. Shane: Yes there was evacuants for Tiamat, there was evacuants from Tara, there was evacuations from Mars, the Moon, probably Saturn and a few other places as well.

Thomas: Was this done by outside beings or did we have the technology ourselves to airlift?

Shane: Outside beings, the technology was on this planet at this time but at this time, this planet was a little bit different in that it was right in the middle of the Atlantean pinnacle of civilization and so the coming and going of Et species was not unfamiliar to Earth and therefore craft was coming and going frequently, then.

Chloe: Did Mars atmosphere get damaged at that time as well?

Shane: Mars was damaged beyond it being able to have sustainable life on its surface at the time, yes.

Chloe: So this is where Thomas used..and I was obsessed with the (world's creational) myths because of my memories on Tiamat, and Thomas was obsessed with the biblical accounts of "water in the sky" coming down upon the Earth, so the waters were not only Tiamat's oceans but also the waters that were also on Mars right, possibly? We have not you explain how beautiful Tiamat was yet.. Shane: And the water that was here as well, yes. And yes I will read what I wrote about Tiamat now as I do not think a lot of people listening tonight would have heard it. So this is something i wrote at one point in time as we were getting ready to discuss this and I had started gathering all the various parts of information I had on Tiamat at that time and I wrote this based on the feelings about I had at that time. Everything was ancient. Balanced.

All visitors were welcomed and laws of the land respected.

Perhaps She was simply in the way.

A terrible war was raging in the solar system and both sides were desperately trying to gain the upper hand. This is when a horrible threat was made. The destruction of Tiamat.

This threat was prepared for.. The loaded gun pointed in Tiamat's direction.

A hair trigger, with a finger resting upon it. Until someone pushed the finger a little too hard.

So much was lost that day. A beautiful shrine of tribute to organic Creation was destroyed.

Ripped apart from the inside out, the water fell and the land spiralled outwards in all directions.

The Salt Water of Tiamat fell and mixed with the Fresh water of another planet .. What we now know as Earth.

Following the water was a large piece of Tiamat, falling and becoming a part of this Earth.

Other pieces fell elsewhere, much less gracefully. Crashing into planets and moons and flying outwards to be reformed. The most dense collections of debris forming a belt in orbit near where Tiamat once belonged.

It is not common for the destruction of planets to occur in such a way.. This was the equivalent of murder. This occurrence sent ripples across the universe and attracted a great deal of attention.

Several beings jumped to action working throughout the solar system to preserve life forms and stabilize natural grids before reforming damaged celestial bodies insofar as was possible.

Much of the attention fell on this planet.

Earth was assisted by various races and souls and brought back to a natural balance. This creation was beautiful, and left to grow.

Survivors witnessed the arrival of refugees of all of the worlds and satellites, as well as Tiamat, to this recently reset planet.

This is where history as we know it begins.

What I mean by that is that shortly after that the Draco arrived.

Thomas: I'd like to comment something on that, some may remember I was speaking about refugees, and this plays into it, because in essence a lot of our souls here - are refugees. I kept finding myself saying the same thing over and over again, 'How can you be an immigrant or a refugees on your own planet.'

This is important for people to grasp. That was quite a story, a narrative that Shane just put forward.

About the destruction and upset that was caused at the time of Tiamat's destruction. A memory that is very latent in most of us, not all are from here.

But this all kind of plays into that attitude that says , 'we don't want Syrians here, we don't want Mexicans here, Puerto Ricans here', and back into the UK they talk about not 'wanting Romanians, Polish people' there. Just as Shane has coined the term borders and countries are just lines on a piece of paper. We are all people, and more people should just think of it that way. And not even use the term refugees or immigrants, or 'illegal alien' which is a poor reference in itself.

Chloe: I think that's a part of the collective memory we have to clear that is making any differences, distinctions between races, cultures because even..(leads to war) Tiamat was a very cosmopolitan planet that had a lot of beings, species that came from all over to visit it (a popular galactic tourist destination), it was not an upbringing planet like Tara was at that time. And in a way by merging them, with you bringing up this point of (racism) that again we are dealing with a collective memory that we need get clear of, making any race different, better than another, not belonging on a planet just because it is not from a certain area they are now present in. This long past event of the merging of these two worlds and the many refugees of the galactic war going on then perhaps makes the lessons of division of races, cultures a defined lesson for us.

You know the bully in the school yard who points the finger at the red haired child. The fact that Tiamat and Gaia- Sophia merged kind of speaks to the next level of amazing (learnings) Humanity hopefully is moving to. So it is a very good point that you bring this up, Thomas, about us all being refugees because we are all refugees and even our soul origins in itself - we are from all over.

Shane: That's why this is all being mirrored back to us in our world right now is because in a big way it's a mirror of that same drama. (that trauma)

Chloe: ...but it's not just a drama, it's an important lesson if we are to take this to the next level of our learnings and experiences here.

Shane: Absolutely.

Chloe: We can make a choice in an instant not to do it, though, that's the thing to realize, right!

Shane: Yup, every moment is a new moment to make a new choice.

I think when it comes to this (particular lesson) we need to make that choice to dig in there and pull this out. I mean it is a narrative, and it can be viewed as a concept, a very common retelling of this same story is how it was Nibiru that came around and smashed into (Tiamat) something and that's why we have all that catastrophe, this is not that much different and the end results was the same.

So that's why I said off the top it does not necessarily matter what caused it - we know that it happened. We can see that by observing the effect and the outcome.

I just think that it's empowering knowledge for us all to understand that what She (our planetary being) is putting Herself thru here by letting us do this damage to Her. She is doing with full understanding of the fact that She is doing that for us, that's Her service to us.

It's Her giving us the ability to touch the hot stove for us to learn for ourselves that it's hot, and She is not a victim here, and I think that understanding that and being able to hold that in your heart. If you ever need a cheerleader She has got to be the best one!

(laughing)

Chloe: Yup, and that it continued on even after the planet healed from the merging, and then the Atlantis cultures tipping the balance into technology over Nature, (cultures on Earth) turning away from the spiritual clan based cultures we had on the Earth before then (Lemuria, MU) and we continued to learn thru making those mistakes. But the balance is returning now..

Shane: Exactly, now we get to bring it all back to balance, look at it and move on.

Thomas: Good stuff! Anymore questions Chloe, or anything else you want to bring up?

Chloe: Nope, Just how I love you guys and I love everybody in THI!

Thomas: So I think we are pretty much near the end. Anything you want to finish on Shane?

Shane: I want to finish of what I said last (laughing) We are doing a lot better than we think we are!

Thomas: Yes!

Shane: And the change is going to occur whether we even like it or not. So The best course of action is to do what you need to do for you.

Make sure you are ready for it and allow that to inspire others, and hopefully we do not end up getting put into a matrix someday. Thomas: Good stuff. I'd like to say thanks to Shane for giving us his time because his time like mine is kinda short, like mine, one of many acts in his part in the play. I'd like to thank him for his service to Humanity. I know what he does, he does not always put it out for various reasons but know that he is performing a very large role for Humanity.

There is a lot of people who choose to denigrate.

Not enough people are given the right plaudits for doing the right things, and thats part of our culture and make up, we often do not give others credit, where credit is due because sometimes we feel it feels like a weakness in ourselves (if we do give credit to others)

That's something Humanity must end, I have spoken of it often on our shows, about competing between ourselves whether that's better house, better cars better intel..the list is endless, we have to work on ourselves.

Deal with our shadow sides, we keep repeating that and many of you in THI have done that which is absolutely fantastic!

Then you go out and try to reach the collective, once you get that collective as Shane has said quite a few times, in this show this evening, we can create our own world, our own system, without the need for control by others, Draco, or other negative Human controllers.

We can create our own system whereby we gain and self empower ourselves and each other and create a better world. And it is that simple! ...and its hard in many ways, because there is a lot of hard work to be done on an individual level and probably even more harder work to be done on a collective level where we see each other as the same.

Not hierarchical systems, we do not need hierarchical systems if we are in control of ourselves. We don't necessarily need justice systems if we all behave towards each other.

Common Natural Law, whichever version you choose, there is a lot of discussions over that - some people think its common law, and some are saying its Natural Law. But at the end of the day if we all took personal responsibility for our lives and the people around us and that merged into a collective, we can be a force.

We were a crown of creation and I think if we put in the hard work we can return to that. At that point we then go to a type zero to a type 1 civilization. At that point we do not need their control systems and we can move on for the better of all! So I hope you all enjoyed the show and once again, thanks for Shane for coming on!